Brief overview of topics, themes, skills or key questions for each term:

Key Stage 3

Why are we teaching a knowledge-rich curriculum; how is it different?

We feel strongly that knowledge is taught to be remembered, not encountered. Therefore, we have incorporated research into cognitive science in the development of our curriculum, in order to ensure that our students leave Key Stage 3 knowing more and remembering more. Our knowledge-rich curriculum builds towards a deeper understanding of the target language by focusing on the core building blocks that underpin language-learning; phonics, vocabulary and grammar. These components are carefully and deliberately sequenced and routinely revisited and recycled throughout Key Stage 3. As a result, students become more proficient in their use of the target language, making clearer links between each piece of knowledge learnt, and are better able to manipulate the target language in a variety of contexts and for a variety of purposes.

Why are we teaching this content, in this order?

The content we teach allows students to speak, write, understand and respond to the target language in a range of contexts and for a variety of purposes. Our choice of topics reflects the varied interests of our students and many of our topics teach practical language, useful to real-life scenarios. As our students progress through the course, they have the opportunity to move on from discussing their own personal tastes and habits to considering wider issues, such as caring for the environment and children's rights. Our course also creates opportunities for students to develop cultural understanding of the target language country through the study of sport, music, food and festivals. These topics provide an excellent foundation for study at GCSE level and beyond.

The way we have chosen to sequence our content ensures a clear, logical progression in the complexity of grammar and phonics and range of vocabulary studied. For example, in Y7 students build proficiency in their understanding of the present tense and use of opinions before progressing to the use of further tenses in subsequent years. The spiral design of our Key Stage 3 curriculum also allows us to regularly re-visit grammar points and vocabulary in new contexts and in increasing depth. Students apply their developing knowledge of grammar, phonics and vocabulary through four key skills (listening, speaking, reading and writing) and tasks increase in complexity as the course progresses to reflect students' growing proficiency in the language.

How does our curriculum match the ambition of the National Curriculum?

Our curriculum fully matches the ambitions of the National Curriculum, providing students with the necessary skills, knowledge and opportunities to communicate in the target language in a wide range of contexts and for a variety of purposes. Our course develops linguistic competence through the progressive study of phonics, grammar and vocabulary and students also have regular opportunities to develop intercultural understanding through exploration of the target language country and culture. In lessons, students routinely practise speaking and writing in order to develop fluency and accuracy. They also work with a variety of spoken and written texts, including authentic texts, in order to develop receptive listening and reading skills. By providing a solid foundation of transferable skills and knowledge necessary for success in languages, our curriculum fully equips students for future language study at GCSE and beyond.

How does the curriculum build on that from Key Stage 2?

Whether or not students arrive in Year 7 with prior experience of the language they will study, our curriculum builds on key language skills developed at primary school such as; recognising cognates, memory techniques, pattern recognition and reading for gist. We also continue to foster students' curiosity for other cultures.

By the end of Key Stage 3, what key knowledge should pupils need to remember and be able to apply in this subject

By the end of Key Stage 3, students will have a secure understanding of the phonetic system of the language they study, allowing them to successfully understand and produce the target language with increasing automaticity and fluency. Students are introduced to key sounds at the very beginning of their language studies, and new vocabulary is introduced with robust pronunciation practice. In order to support students, this skill is practised extensively through speaking and listening activities, including dictation and reading aloud.

By the end of Year 9, students will have a developing understanding of key aspects of grammar underpinning the target language. Students will have been introduced to three tenses (present, past and future) and should be able to recognise and use them in their work with increasing accuracy and fluency. They will also be able to express justified opinions in the target language and should have an understanding of foundation grammatical principles, such as genders and adjectival agreement. Although students are encouraged to identify patterns in the target language, grammar is taught explicitly through carefully scaffolded activities and practised alongside familiar vocabulary in all four skills (listening, speaking, reading and writing) in order to ensure proficiency.
