

Reason Number 3

Reading increases cultural knowledge (without an expensive plane flight)

Reading books set in cultures different from our own provides knowledge of those cultures and the emotional and spiritual lives of the people who live there. If you hope to travel the world someday, you can start exploring those places through books. You may have not yet been to these cultures, but you understand them better because of reading.

