The Black Flamingo. Dean Atta

A fierce coming-of-age verse novel about identity and the power of drag. Sometimes, we need to take charge, to stand up wearing pink feathers and show ourselves to the world in bold colour.

They Both Die at the End, Adam Silvera

On September 5, a little after midnight, Death-Cast calls Mateo Torrez and Rufus Emeterio to give them some bad news: They're going to die today. Rufus and Mateo are about to meet up for one last great adventure—to live a life time in a single day.

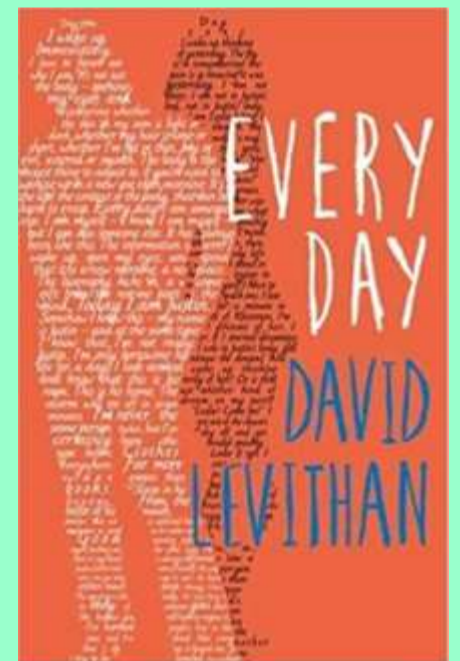

What's the T?, Juno Dawson

Juno tackles about what it means to be a young transgender and/or non-binary person today and offers lots of very witty advice and guidance.

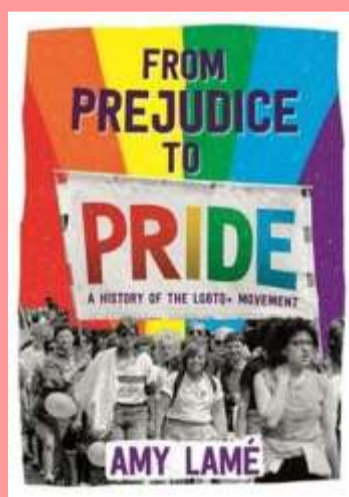

Every Day, David Levithan

Each morning, A wakes up in a different body. There's never any warning about who it will be, but A is used to that. A can live by their own rules, until A finds someone they want to be with—every day...A young adult romance story with a nonbinary heart, in which gender plays no part.

From Prejudice to Pride, Amy Lamé

Follow LGBT+ history from ancient civilisations to the present-day, and learn about key events including the trial of Oscar Wilde, the Stonewall riots, the AIDS crisis, same-sex marriage and changing laws that have impacted on LGBT+ life.

Fun Home, Allison Bechdel

Bechdel's graphic novel presents her dysfunctional relationship with her father through a lesbian lens. It documents her childhood in rural Pennsylvania, and provides a queer exploration of broken family, unravelling emotions, and suicide.

Aristotle and Dante Discover the Secrets of the Universe, Benjamin Alire Sáenz

Aristotle is an angry teen with a brother in prison. Dante is a know-it-all who has an unusual way of looking at the world. They seem to have nothing in common. But as they discover a friendship—the kind that changes lives and lasts a lifetime.
